Needful Knowledge

Norway People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney Disease.

The symptoms of kidney trouble are so unmistakable that they leave no ground for doubt. Sick kidneys secrete a thick, cloudy, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back aches constantly, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighed down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger of dropsy, Bright's disease, or diabetes. Any one of these symptoms is warning enough to begin treating the kidneys at once. Delay often proves fatal.

You can use no better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's Norway proof:

William O. Needham, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "Whenever I took cold, it settled on my kidneys and caused trouble. Several years ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and since then, whenever I have felt my kidneys to be in need of a tonic, I have taken this remedy, procuring my supply at Stone's Drug Store. It has never failed to rid my system of uric acid and give me relief. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a reliable kidney remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

A True Poem.

I stood beside a drunkard's tomb
Where quivering trees all lowly bend,
As if weeping in the gloom.

Then there, the darkest of his heart
Shared not with him the gloomy shade.
The casket old in which he lays

His own hands, and his weary tell,
Of clean white pine, in which they tell,
That they can now remember well!

His narrow house he built of stone,
And covered it with earth and clay;
His neighbor smiled and went his way.

Long years have passed, the tomb remains,
But the casket there in the twilight gray
Dreams no more of earthly things.

His wife, his children, they are gone,
Naught but the wild flowers there appears;
His history, it is hid in tears.

Oh, moral, with this habit pause,
And heed the warning of the will!
It links to crush you in its jaws.

The brain-storm serpent of the still!

DANA HARLOW.

Children at Table.

True, nagging is very disagreeable,
But if these mothers would bear in mind
That example is the greatest abettor

Of their children's faults, and that they Desire to inculcate in their children,
There would be decidedly less cause for

Tagging; a gentle reminder now
And then would usually suffice. The table
Training of a child should begin as soon

As he is brought to the table. The dignity Of the table and the dignity of the Sitting at table. The mistake mothers

Make is in ignoring the first offense.
Among other things bearing upon this Subject, children should be taught:

To sit up straight, keep the feet under
The table and the elbow off of it.

To wait patiently and pleasantly until Turn to be served.

To make polite requests and render Gracious thanks for a service.

Not to intrude in a conversation
Carried on by their elders, but to bide their

Time.

That bread should be broken, not out,
And eaten in morsels.

That the food should be carried to the Mouth and not the mouth to the food

After the manner of the brute creation.

Not to mix food or heap it on the Plate.

To drink noiselessly and not gulp
Liquids.

To keep the mouth closed while chewing and not bolt food.

How to hold the knife and fork. They are not implements of warfare, as many seem to imagine.

That the knife is used only for cutting; that the fork is used for breaking off portions of food and conveying it to the mouth.

That soup should be held on a fork,
a spoon should be used.

That the spoon should not be left in the cup, but placed in the saucer at the right of the cup.

That soup should be dipped up from the side, not toward one, and without tipping the plate. That it should be drunk from the side, not the point of the spoon.

To wipe the lips before drinking, that the edge of the glass may not be smeared.

To perform gracefully the little tasks,
such as pouring water or helping to the butter, boys as well as girls being required to take their turn.

OXFORD COUNTY ADVERTISER, FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1911

Wrought In A Hundred Years.

Wonderful indeed have been the changes that have taken place within the past hundred years, and to realize this we have but to consider how many things

we now have—things that we consider essential to every day life—of which our great-grandparents never knew.

Here are a few things of which we think, and the list might be largely added to.

There were no canned goods of any kind. There were no tin cans. Neither were there any cars to bring fresh fruits and vegetables—like strawberries, to-matos and lettuce—from the South and from California. In fact, there were then no such places in the United States

as Florida and Texas and California.
They were all of them waste places or foreign lands. They belonged to England and Spain and France and Mexico.

Oranges, bananas, pineapples, grapefruit, olives, Malaga grapes and other tropical fruits which are so familiar to all of us, were never seen in the markets of 1810.

Boys and girls of that day only heard about them from travelers or read of them

in books.

Dinners were cooked in fire-places.
There were no ranges. There were no gas stoves, no oil stoves; no coal stoves;

no cook stoves of any kind. Housewives

had no baking powder, no yeast cakes,
no self-raising flour, no flavoring extracts,

no ground spices, no cocoa, no potted
meats, no catsup, no prepared breakfast food, no soda crackers, no macaroni. All the coffee had to be roasted and ground and the coffee houses then had very few of the conveniences that they have today. They had no running water in the house or strictionary washtubs, or clothes wringers, or washing machines, or wire clotheslines. Neither had they refrigerators or ice cream freezers, or egg beaters, or waffle irons or meat grinders

or carpet sweepers or ammonia, borax, gasoline or muth balls, or fly papers or fly screens. And they had no matches, and they had no electric lights or gas-

lights, and no kerosene.

There were no sewing machines in 1810. All clothes were made by hand.

All clothes were made by hand. There were no ready made things of any kind;

not even shoes. Neither had they every family upon its own wool and flax

and made its own thread and yarn and cloth. The clothes for the boys and girls and the men and women were made at home. So also were the carpets, the curtains, the beds, the mattresses and the chairs and tables. There were no

furniture factories; no ready-made desks
or book cases or bedsteads or anything else. Such things as were made at home were made to order by the shoemaker, or the hatter or the tailor, or the cabinet-maker. Clothing stores, shoe stores, hat stores, furniture stores, were unheard of. In 1810 nobody wore rubbers. That was because there were no rubbers. The only shoes were made of any kind of over-shoes, waterproof, raincoats, rubber-balls, pencil erasers, hot water bags, or anything of that sort, no fire hose. There were no water mains, and there were no fire engines. When a house caught fire it was out if they could by throwing buckets of water on the flames.

Fireplaces were the only means of keeping a house warm. There were no stoves, no coal stoves. Here and there a wealthy family owned a wood-burning

An Ohio Letter.

East Claridon, Ohio, Dec 31, 1910.

EDITOR ADVERTISER:—Having deferred my return to the Sunshine state,

South Dakota, until after New Year's, I will now endeavor to write you another letter from the Buckeye state. Last week I went to Cleveland, and on Saturday night with two of my old Lovell

friends, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Barker, who are spending the winter with their daughter, the wife of Rev. W. P.

Thomas, a Presbyterian pastor of Cliv-eland, and from them I learned a few items that may be of interest to some of their old time friends away down in Maine.

Like most of the young people who left the home nest in Lovell some 40 to 50 years ago to seek their fortunes in other portions of our grand old growing country they have prospered "both in basket and in store." Their home has been for many years at Johnstown, Pa., where they are wheeling at the time of the great flood, and amongst the victims of that awful calamity in which some 2,500 lives were lost, was one of their sons with his wife and children.

Mr. Barker retired from business a year or two ago. They have a few items in Johnstown where they make their home with their son. Last winter they spent in Florida where they enjoyed the fine climate and excellent fishing very much indeed. Eugene V. Barker and Mary Clark Hamblin were married in Lovell on the 18th of October, 1880, by the Rev. Joseph Smith, in presence of Mary Ella Barker, a sister of the groom, and Mary Clark Barker, a cousin and nearby neighbor. On the 18th of October, Mr. and Mrs. Barker celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding at their home in Johnstown. Besides a few old neighbors there was present on that memorable occasion, three

Barker brothers, Florin, Augustus and Constantine, of Ebensburg, with their families and Mary Clark Barker and her husband (I forget his name) of Jewell City, Kan.

It was a letter day in the history of the Barker family. Many valuable presents were received, and the memory of that golden anniversary will ever be one of the bright jewels in their memory and happy wedded life. Of the sons

mentioned by name above, five were born at Lovell Center, in the old ancestral home of the Barkers, and the sixth, Mrs. Barker, spent most of her solitary girl days there.

Flora and Con Barker, as they are called at home, are wealthy and prosperous merchants of Ebensburg, Pa., and Augustine, or Judge Barker as he is called at home, is wealthy and distinguished lawyer of Ebensburg, and served one year as Judge of Cambridge. He is fond of travel and spends most of his winters in the South. His wife is an invalid, having received a stroke of paralysis in the year of our last spring. He has a son on his way home from the South.

My father, Col. Elden Barker, and her father, Col. Elden Barker. She and her

father, Col. Elden Barker. She and her
father, Col. Elden Barker. She and her

father, Col. Elden Barker. She and her
father, Col. Elden Barker. She and her

father, Col. Elden Barker. She and her

Shoeing the Colt.

The first shoeing of a colt is the most important of all. Many a good horse has his speed impaired by wrong judgment being used in doing the first job of shoeing. We have heard much on shoeing being an evil necessity but the greatest of evils comes when the shoeing

of the colt has not been followed along same lines.

In the hands of a competent trainer,
shoeing rarely starts with the first shoeing, because experience tells the handler exactly the kind of a shoe that should be used on the colt the first time.

Two years of age is not too young for the first shoes to be put on, but at this age, when the breaking-in process has been started, the bones or muscles of the colt have not yet received their full portion of growth or strength, and in order to avoid breakage to the hoof and other damage to the foot it is advisable when colts are being worked at that age to use a shoe that will wear.

The unfortunate thing about horseshoeing is that some people look to have expenses in shoeing by applying more weight on the feet than the animal is able to carry and do himself justice. A foal of two years old that is a speed prospect should not be asked to carry more than three or four ounces, and it is not out of place to have same weight attached to each hoof.

Notwithstanding the fact that there are men in the horse business who are always willing to charge some form of incompetence or ignorance against the horseman, it is nevertheless a fact that the horsemen of today understand their trade better than those of past history. The improvement can be credited for the most part to the close association which horsemen have had with men who have given a lifetime of study to the gaiting of horses.

Some of these, however, are not to be considered among the rank of those who understand all of the requirements of a horse, so far as his shoeing is concerned.

Take, for instance, one who looks merely at the gait of the animal without considering the conformation of the animal. It is impossible for such a man to give sound and safe advice to a shoeer, for the reason that he has not looked into the first requirements of the case, and that is conformation.

FRYEBURG.

Brilliant Affairs.

The New Year social season opened brilliantly at K. P. hall on Monday night, the event being the annual concert and ball of the K. P.'s attendance of members and guests.

A very pretty drill took place at 8 o'clock by eight ladies, under the management of D. Ganser. The hall was decorated nicely for the occasion. At 9 o'clock the grand march was announced, and 50 couples formed on the floor headed by Dr. and Mrs. Twaddle, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fox, followed by the leading people in town.

At a later hour, supper was served to 200 guests.

Music was furnished by Miss Jordan's orchestra, the best in the state.

Robert Eastman was in town this week.

Frank Jones is stopping at Mrs. Cousins'.

W. S. Lougee arrived from Concord, N. H., this week.

The local blacksmith, Chas. Abbott, is laid off on account of a cold.

Owen Eastman, the tax collector, informs us the taxes are about all in.

Geo. Leavitt is spending a few weeks at Cold River, hunting and trapping.

Benjamin McKee is now 81 years old. He may be seen on the street every day.

We notice T. W. Charles with his fine load of hard wood every day at about 3.80 p. m.

John Eastman claims to have the oldest newspaper in town, printed in Baltimore, 135 years ago.

The two fianciers of two took dinner at C. A. Pike's and report a delightful time. Good music by Mr. Pike and family.

We want 300 subscribers for the Advertiser this year. We intend to give full report of the current news of town.

Dr. Lougee was whirling around town with his auto, Tuesday. The roads being a glare of ice made very fine going for autos.

"A carload" of creepers arrived in town this week. Be sure you have a pair. Arms and legs are scarce, you can't replace them.

Chester Chandler of Cold River passed through the town, Monday, on the way to Concord, N. H., to serve as State Representative.

Owen Eastman intends to make a shape business in the poultry trade. Mr. Eastman has a fine facility and no doubt will make a success.

Icecutting and wood hauling are the principal business in town at the present time. Very good sleighing. The sidewalks need a little sand as you are liable to take a fall.

Chas. Halsey met with a bad fall on the ice Tuesday morning while stepping from a sleigh, striking on his head just above the temple, making a bad bruise. A physician was called to attend him.

All churches in town gave New Year's blessings. It would be well for any one in this vicinity who has clothes that are going to waste to establish a place and give them for a good purpose. Lots of poor children need them if you only look it up.

Mrs. Dr. C. H. Harris is on the sick list.

The town schools began Jan. 3d, with the same teachers.

J. F. Harriman called on relatives in South Fryeburg, Sunday.

Dr. W. Twaddle's brother, Guard, is visiting him for a few days.

Walter Kiefe from Massachusetts, made a flying trip to Fryeburg last week.

BOLSTER'S MILLS.

Mrs. Louisa Barrows Dorman.

Mrs. Louisa Barrows Dorman passed away on the 31st of December at the home of her daughter in East Denmark.

Mrs. Dorman had been in failing health for several years and had been faithfully cared for by her husband, the late Leander Dorman, who died in November, 1909, and by her daughters.

She was a woman loved by all who knew her and was one who never tired of doing for others.

The seven children of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman survive her. They are Mrs. Rena B. Drake of Squaw Valley, Cal., Louis, Dorman of Fowler, Cal., Mrs. Mary E. Dorman of East Denmark, Mrs. Charles Brett of Oxford, Mrs. Adeline C. Buck of Harrison, Mrs. Geneva Barrows of South Paris and Mrs. Fanny Wright of Bolster's Mills. All of these were present at the funeral services at Bolster's Mills except the son and daughter in California.

Mrs. Dorman died at the age of 76 years and 11 months, having been a resident of Bolster's Mills for fifty years.

Deaths by cholera she leaves a sister, Mrs. Eviline Huxley, who lives in Wells, Maine, and an adopted brother, Horace Smith, a prominent lumber merchant of Dublin, Texas.

The farmers are busy harvesting their ice.

Ida Lovell is visiting relatives in Oxford.

Gladys Chute is working at Rufus Hamilton's.

A. W. Weston leaves this week Tuesday for Augusta.

EAST PARIS.

His Her Case.

Some months ago a certain physician lives a few miles from here and who travels about the country on foot a great deal with his pockets full of bottles of medicine, while passing through this place happened to lose one of his bottles in the road. A woman who lived near by found the bottle, carried it home and took of the contents daily until the bottle was empty.

She declared upon her word and honor that it did her the most good of any medicine she ever took in her life.

If all physicians could do as well without a diagnosis, the old familiar request, "Eat me and your tongue, please," would go out of use. But however, without doubt, there are times when tongues should be seen and not heard.

Grant Royal recently shot a fox. It was a good one.

Scott Colby has the banner flock of hens. They are laying "to beat the band."

Harold Briggs and Richmond Taylor of Buckfield recently visited at W. W. Maxin's.

GREENWOOD.

Fooled Mr. Fox.

Allan Cole secured a fox a few days ago in an original manner, at least new to the writer. The fox was seen near the buildings and Mr. Cole started in pursuit. Not getting a view of the fox again he fired in the air and stood in his tracks when Mr. Fox returned in his tracks and was quickly dispatched. It is said that this is a trick that will fool a fox two times in three by being unable to distinguish the direction of the shot and fearing it is ahead takes his own tracks back.

Stillman Cole and Fred Tubbs were in Portland on business Saturday.

Cole's orchestra furnished music at the New Year's ball at West Paris.

Calvin Cole and family are visiting friends at Walker's Mills for a few days.

Roscoe Peabody is sick with pneumonia. A trained nurse is in attendance on him.

Friday night was the coldest of the winter in this vicinity up to the present time. December has made quite a record in zero weather.

The Greenwood Dramatic club will give an entertainment at Locke's Mills this Friday evening, probably followed by a dance. Much care and work has been put in this affair and those attending will be amply repaid for the money expended.

The Christmas treat at the church was more bountifully filled than usual. The exercises were fine, the little folks taking the parts in a creditable manner, both to themselves and those who drilled them. Santa Claus made his annual visit and while we have no ocular proof of the fact, so great is our faith in good Saint Nick, that when he declared that he came in a flying machine this year, let us hope if this method of travel is permanently adopted by the jolly old gent that he will escape the mishaps usually attendant upon travelers in space.

School in district No. 4, Anna Deegan, teacher, closed a successful term Dec. 30. Miss Deegan has given excellent satisfaction as teacher, the pupils in the school making good progress in their studies. Out of an enrollment of thirteen pupils, nine were neither tardy nor absent one-half day. The names are given below:

Linda Martin, June Tracy,
Thelma Tracy, Henry Tracy,
Irving Martin, Hugh Tracy,
Violet Maxfield, Philip Maxfield,
Charles Martin.

Elva Kendall spent Xmas at home.

E. H. Bliss is in Bangor on business. Stillman Cole went to Portland, Saturday.

C. F. Ring is hauling oak to the Irish Brother's.

Roscoe Peabody died very suddenly Sunday night.

Mrs. Benj. Ring and daughter, Iva, returned to Portland, Saturday morning.

On Xmas day there was dinner served at C. F. Ring to twenty relatives and friends. After dinner presents were distributed from a tree well filled, of useful and pretty presents.

NORWAY CENTER.

Marion Hobbs spent Wednesday, with her friend, Effie Watson.

Earl Barker is quite sick at this writing, threatened with pneumonia.

The next circle will be held, Jan. 11, entertained by Mrs. Zenas Mills and Mrs. Edward Witt.

Edward Knightly is cutting ice for most of the neighbors in this vicinity.

Edward York is assisting him.

Effie Watson of the Center attended the party last Saturday evening, held at Henry Brown's place, which is now owned by Paul Howe.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our deep and sincere gratitude to all those who rendered such kindly service in the late bereavement through which we have been called to pass, to the minister for his words of comfort and consolation, and may each and every one be rewarded by him, "Who doeth all things well," for their many acts of kindness.

J. ORIN ROSS AND FAMILY.

SOUTH HARRISON.

Catherine R. Ross, wife of J. Orin Ross, passed away at her home in South Harrison, Dec. 25th, aged 62 years, 1 month, 3 days. She was born in Salem, Mass., and was the daughter of Walter R. and Mary (Waish) Arrington.

Her struggle against her fatal disease has been long and heroic and her sufferings were borne with Christian fortitude. She was united with the Congregational church when very young and was a true Christian to the end, this being illustrated in the fact that only a few hours before her death and amidst suffering she sang one verse of "There is a Happy Land, Far, Far Away."

She leaves a husband and two daughters. One son, Walter A., died about five years ago. One daughter, Marion, has been at home and who, although in poor health herself, has patiently and tenderly cared for her mother through all these years of suffering. The other daughter is Maude, wife of Harold Dyer of Portland.

Funeral services were held at her home conducted by Rev. Mr. Davies of North Bridgton. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends to testify their respect for the dead and sorrow for the living. Interment was at the Center cemetery.

Eugene L. Johnson is on the sick list. Warren Flagg is moving to Sebago, has a logging job at that place.

J. O. Ross has started his grist mill at Scribner's, will grind Saturdays.

M. T. Morrow and grandchildren with a cold and other ailments are on the gain.

J. H. Randall and wife are visiting friends and relatives in Portland during the holidays.

Frank Chaplin and wife made a flying visit to Mechanic Falls and returned with a new sleigh.

Herman Thompson, who has been logging a few weeks for his son, Guy, has moved back on to his farm again.

Scribner Bros. have been repairing the basement of their mill, putting in new sills, rehanging the shafting and other necessary repairs. Charles Drew of Naples did the work.

James Thomas has quite a crew logging on the Thurston place, so called. He has four oxen and one pair of horses. Ox team is driven by Mel Jordan, horse team by Elmer Thomas, for oxen, Geo. Ayers, J. O. Hartford, Luther Edwards, Frank Boober, Fred Russell, Norman Edson and Austin Lewis.

HIRAM.

Helen Marston is suffering with a bad cold.

Mr. Marshall Spring is visiting at Fryeburg.

Mrs. A. G. Stearns visited Mrs. C. C. Lowell one day.

Mrs. Hannah E. Bucknell is much improved in health.

Allen Pierce's family made a short visit at D. W. Pierce's this week.

Melville Gould is home from Augusta, where he went to attend the Maine State Game.

Mr. and Mrs. Stillman Durgin of Brownfield visited C. C. Lowell and wife of Brookside Farm, New Year's day.

Mr. and Mrs. Durgin are up-to-date farmers. They own a large farm of nearly six hundred acres and a good part is covered with pine which is worth a number of thousand dollars. Lately Mr. Durgin bought another piece joining his pasture which makes it more convenient as it brings his pasture to the main road. He told me he had been offered twenty-five dollars for three white pine trees which stood on this lot. His tillage land is irrigated with a good water supply as Sheppard river runs most the length of it. Mr. Durgin makes hay a specialty. Beside keeping abundant lot of hay to sell every year. A few years ago he built a fine barn with all modern conveniences, one of the best there is in Brownfield. He told us he was wintering three yoke of oxen besides a number of cows and some young stock. Mrs. Durgin is a fine butter maker and finds a ready market with good prices for all she can make.

His tillage land is irrigated with a good water supply as Sheppard river runs most the length of it. Mr. Durgin makes hay a specialty. Beside keeping abundant lot of hay to sell every year. A few years ago he built a fine barn with all modern conveniences, one of the best there is in Brownfield. He told us he was wintering three yoke of oxen besides a number of cows and some young stock. Mrs. Durgin is a fine butter maker and finds a ready market with good prices for all she can make.

Mr. and Mrs. Durgin are up-to-date farmers. They own a large farm of nearly six hundred acres and a good part is covered with pine which is worth a number of thousand dollars. Lately Mr. Durgin bought another piece joining his pasture which makes it more convenient as it brings his pasture to the main road. He told me he had been offered twenty-five dollars for three white pine trees which stood on this lot.
